

April

More progress on cucumber frame

Original gateway

Ruth pondering her latest discovery

Spring bulbs near the carpark

Mine's bigger than yours

We're sure it will work!

Bruce starting the years' first cut

Clearing more roots and rubble from north slip garden

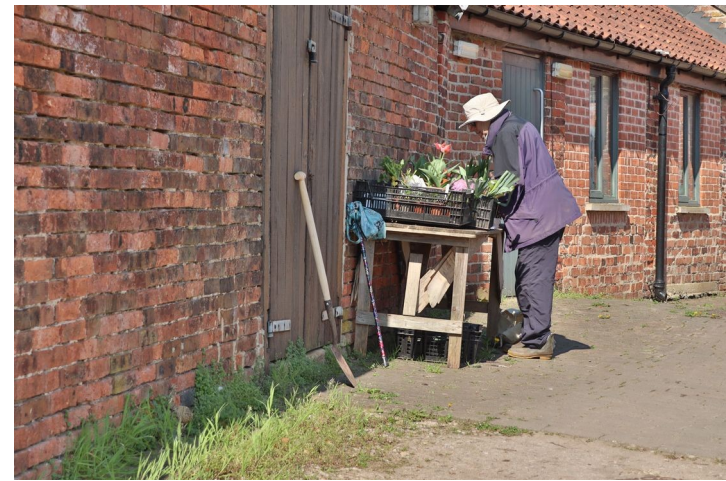

So many spuds to plant!

Planting out the sweet peas

Stocking up the produce stall

Spring work starting to gather pace

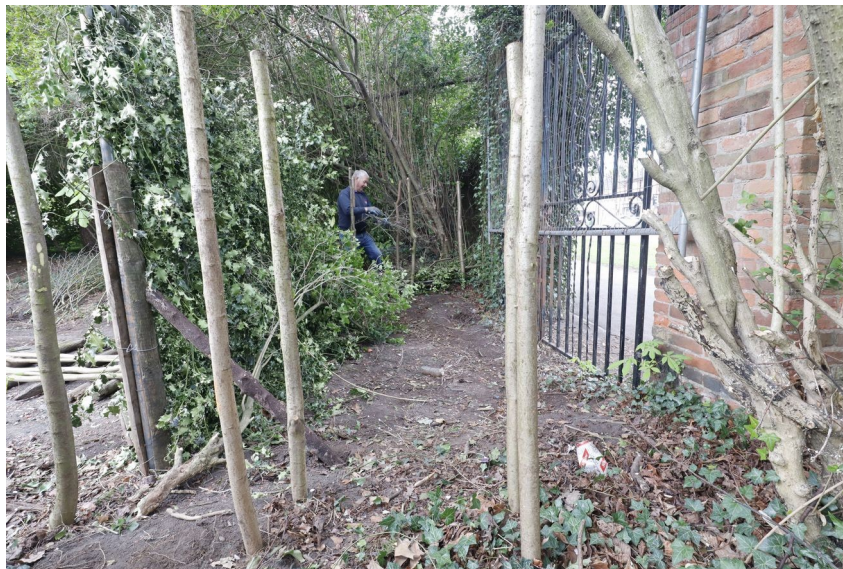

West wall border
starting to show

First tour of the season

Securing the original walled garden entrance

May

Hard work....

...then tea break.

More work on the access ramp

One architect and one engineer, what could possibly go wrong!

Core volunteer group discussing plans for the coming year

Some idea of what the large conservatory would have looked like

Head gardeners cottage starting to look good!

Home-schooling group next to their plot

Happy birthday, Rob

Potato field showing signs of growth, despite the dry springtaring

Always plenty to do!

Famous archeologist alert!

Andrew in serious painting mode

Anthony's kitchen table, made from trees we had to cut down

June

Test frames, giving an idea of the finished roof

The naughty corner for the weeds!

Produce a little late due to the dry spring

Clearing the slip garden near the cottage

More dead-hedging work

Maria checking the courgettes

Platinum Way opened!

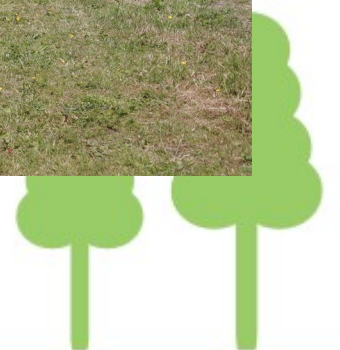

Our very own Queen
with her loyal retainers

More old structures under the soil in the cucumber house

East wall border looking good!

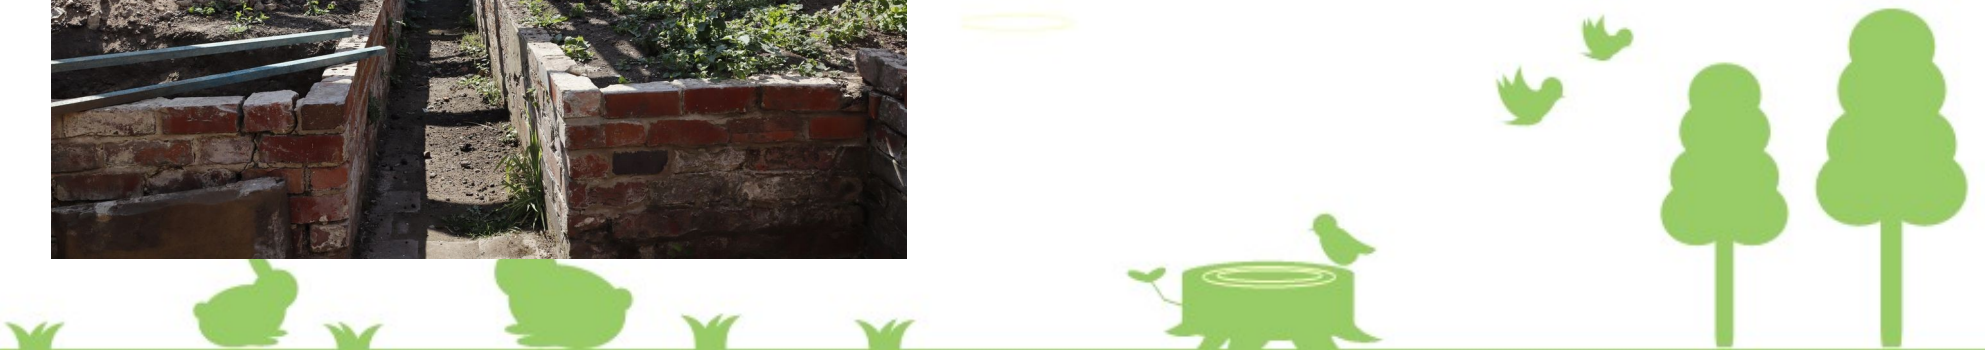

Peter and Geoff working on the access ramp

Rob and Phil setting up the fruit cage

More work renovating the cucumber frame

The usual suspects!

